Question 4 of 5

Question 4:

Jose:

I moved to a new country and it is challenging to stay in touch with relatives, but thanks to technology, I can now easily contact my family. I rely on technology a lot for this reason, and I believe many people nowadays depend on it too. It makes sense, and I have no issues with that. Technology has made staying connected much more convenient and accessible for all of us.

Marisol:

I work in finance, and it is normal for me to use technology to update international banking information. However, looking at the screen for too long makes my eyes hurt. Also, using my phone for extended periods before bedtime affects my sleep, so I avoid it after 9 p.m. to ensure a good night's rest.

Bao:

Our family uses technology a lot. My sister called mom even inside the house! Although my dad told us not to use the phone at night, I use it anyway. I find it convenient to watch movies and listen to music. I also use it to play games with friends. My friends always have the most updated games, which puts pressure on me to buy the latest as soon as I can. I don't want to lag behind them.

Sira:

I am a professional painter, which is not traditionally connected to technology, but perhaps I will use it more in the future. I have a laptop at home. Whenever I use it, my daughter becomes really interested, so I have to keep it locked away. Although some of my friends are keen on letting children be exposed to technology, I think it would affect their brain development.

Answers:

- Who uses technology to communicate with family? Jose
- Who thinks children shouldn't use technology? Sira
- Who advises against using technology before going to bed? Marisol
- Who uses technology for entertainment? Bao
